

Serving Students with Disabilities

Are you having trouble connecting the dots between the evaluation, IEP, and services for students with disabilities? If so, this professional learning is for you. Participants will walk through the purposes of special education and how it is connected to the evaluation. During this time, we will also investigate how the IEP outlines the services needed to support students with disabilities and help them access the general education curriculum.

Intended Audience:
Special education directors, general education teachers, intervention specialists, related service providers
